

Sustainability Metrics for Manufacturing Project - FOOTNOTES

¹ Information such as manufacturing resources (equipment), materials used during production, harmful by-products, bill-of-restricted materials etc.

² Resource intensity is a measure of the resources (e.g. water, energy, materials) needed for the production, processing and disposal of a unit of good or service, or for the completion of a process or activity; it is therefore a measure of the efficiency of resource use.