Reddit - r/cybersecurity community

Post by: u/calculatetech
In Response to: u/nist

I understand this may be outside the bounds of a "framework", but just publishing policy templates and guides would be HUGE for SMB. The biggest gripe my clients have is every supplier has their own forms to fill out. If there's a standardized set of rules, why aren't there standardized forms to complement them? And better yet, a database that can be referenced with supplier compliance status so we don't need the forms.