Taylor H. Wilkerson

Taylor Wilkerson is the Program Manager for LMI's Research Institute where he manages LMI's innovation programs. Taylor has been with LMI since 2001 as a consultant in the Supply Chain Management program. Since coming to LMI, Mr. Wilkerson has focused on improving client's supply chains through analysis and application of leading practices. Prior to LMI, Taylor spent 6 years as an environmental consultant performing a variety of analysis and design projects for industrial clients.

He is a contributing author to X-SCM: The New Science of Extreme Supply Chain Management; Climate Change: What You Can Do Now; and the McGraw-Hill Air Quality Control Handbook. He is also a co-author of GreenSCOR: A Green Supply Chain Adaptation of SCOR and author of "Can One Green Deliver Another," which was published in MIT's Supply Chain Strategy newsletter.

Mr. Wilkerson is actively involved with the Supply Chain Council, Supply Chain Risk Leadership Council, and Council of Supply Chain Management Processionals on topics of sustainability and risk management, including cyber security in the supply chain.

Mr. Wilkerson holds a B.E. in Mechanical Engineering from Vanderbilt University and an M.B.A from the Robert H. Smith School of Business at the University of Maryland and is a Senior Fellow and Adjunct Professor with the Robert H Smith School of Business Supply Chain Management Center.