MONDAY, APRIL 12 4:00-6:00 PM ET: THE VALUE OF TLP
This session will introduce the audience to TLP. Presenters will discuss the value of the TLP process and how TLP analysis has improved operations.

TUESDAY, APRIL 13 4:00-6:00 PM ET: TOOLS IN TLP
Different TLP tools will be presented and discussed. Discussions will center around the capabilities of the current TLP tools and the needs of future TLP tools.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14 4:00-6:00 PM ET: THE NEED FOR TLP DATASETS
Presenters will discuss the importance of TLP datasets and how this data improves TLP research. Discussions will focus on current TLP datasets and the value of creating publicly available datasets for the TLP community.

THURSDAY, APRIL 15 4:00-6:00 PM ET: CREATING THE NECESSARY TLP RESOURCES
Community driven, domain specific TLP resources will be discussed. The need for community supported and developed domain specific resources, such as ontologies, data representations, data schemas, and text embeddings will be presented.

FRIDAY, APRIL 16 4:00-6:00 PM ET: TLP COI NEXT STEPS
This session will focus on the next steps for the TLP COI. The structure of the COI, the outputs of the COI, and the next meetings will be discussed.
